

The GOVtips.biz World's Biggest Customer[™] series is designed to provide the most information at the least expense!

"Fifteen years ago, I was a small business owner doing strictly commercial work. It was when I expanded my business into the federal sector that I was able to achieve growth which I never thought possible. I created the GOVtips.biz World's Biggest Customer series as a resource for businesses looking to branch out into federal markets as I did. Through GOVtips, I have compiled detailed how-to information on federal contracting based on my unique perspective as a business owner who has been-there, done-that."
